FLOODS AND GALES TAKE HEAVY TOLL IN FIVE COUNTRIES

European Lands Swept
By Storms That Carry
Death and Destruction
on Crest.

FLOODS IMPERIL ALL OF BELGIUM

Five Deaths in France;
Property Losses in England, Germany and Switzerland.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—(P)—Floods and severe gales caused serious damage in five European countries over the weekend.

Three great rivers, the Scheldt, the Rhine and the Seine, overflowed their banks in the wake of heavy rains, while destructive gales lashed other parts of Belgium, France, Germany, Switzerland and many districts in England.

Material damage was heavy and five deaths in France were attributed to the gale.

Belgium has been the principal sufferer, with the Scheldt breaking through its dikes at several points and overflowing the countryside. In the Termonde district thousands of acres were submerged. Troops have been rushed to the affected area to repair breaches in the dikes.

In southern Germany, with the Rhine many feet above normal level, inhabitants in many places along the riverside evacuated their homes.

Three electric power stations near Frankfurt-on-the-Main have been put out of commission, while the bursting of a dam has flooded the village of Ludwiger. Two aerial masts at a Munich broadcasting station collapsed from the high wind.

In France the Seine was rising rapidly and navigation was interrupted. At Le Mans the river Sambre overflowed, inundating several quarters of the town, causing residents to abandon their homes.

In the border districts of northern England, the heaviest fall of snow sleet and hail so far this year occurred last night, while in southern England a heavy gale howled throughout the night.

The motor vessel Auriga and three barges were wrecked off the southeast coast and their 15 occupants were rescued only with great difficulty.

Exceptionally high tides were reported from British channel ports as well as from continental seaside towns across the channel and along the southern part of the North sea.

Interruptions in communications between Berlin, Warsaw and Moscow, which occurred intermittently in the last two days and were at first ascribed to disorders in the Russian capital, now are attributed to blizzards sweeping western Russia.

A violent storm visited northern Switzerland last night, snowing down in Basle, blowing down chimneys and uprooting trees. A slight earthquake shock in that district this morning added to the distress of the inhabitants.

In the Bernese district of Switzerland thunder and lightning accompanied by hail did much damage to forests. Reports from Soleure were that great damage was caused in the Jura mountains. Telephone and telegraph communications were interrupted.

ALL BELGIUM THREATENED BY RAIN-SWOLLEN RIVERS

RUSSELS, Nov. 23.—(P)—The whole of Belgium was threatened today with a grave disaster due to floods caused by recent heavy rains.
Waters of the river Scheldt swept away vast quantities of goods stored at Antwerp, cut off the Zwynedrecht railroad line, destroyed a ship in dry-dock and marooned inhabitants in the Antwerp suburb of Sainte Anne. Oil tanks at Hoboken were menaced.

M. Dronart, president of the Belgian Red Cross, has gone to the Ter-monde region which is completely submerged.

A detachment of 300 soldiers has been rushing to repair dikes destroyed by the River Scheldt's 10-foot rise in one hour. At Charleroi work has been stopped at the collieries and steel works, which were flooded.

Reports from the Duchy of Luxembourg.

Lost 3-Year-Old Child Hunted By Posse of 200

TRENTON, Ga., Nov. 23.—(P)— Searching parties tonight found no trace of Opal Cochran, 3-year-old daughter of A. W. Cochran, who disappeared Saturday while hunting for wood with several other children near the home of her uncle.

Sheriff G. C. Tatum said he discounted the theory that the girl had been kidnapped or become lost in the woods. He said he feared she had been accidentally killed or the victim of violence.

More than 200 men were engaged in the hunt.

GEORGIA MOTHER, BABE ARE SLAIN; KILLER SUICIDES

Johnson County Tragedy Laid By Officers to
"Drunk Rage" of 23-
Year-Old Youth.

KITE, Ga., Nov. 23.—(P)—A young mother, Mrs. Tom Kirkland, her baby daughter, and Fred Wheeler were shot to death today in what Johnson county officers described as Wheeler's
"drunken rage."

Officers said Wheeler shot the mother and child and then several hours later, while being sought by a posse, killed himself.

Wheeler, according to officers, returned home "crazed with drink" late this morning, seized a shotgun from a neighbor's house, fired a charge into his own dwelling where his family was gathered, and then threatened to kill his mother as she rushed outside.

"Ma, you know I'll do it," his mother quoted him as warning.

Mrs. Kirkland, who was in the house rushed out with her child and sped toward her home some distance away. Seeing the woman and child, officers said, Wheeler fired two charges at them, the first striking the child from her mother's arms and the second felling the woman. Both were mortally wounded.

Wheeler's brother, Lee, then appeared on the scene in effort to prevent further carnage and Wheeler turned upon him, officers learned, and charged him about three miles toward a swamp and briars to Kite, but never getting close enough to fire.

After arriving here, Lee Wheeler saw the mother and child, and he knew he "was going to die," she persuaded him to leave her the gun, and he left for the brush.

Four hours after the double slay-ing, which was around noon, Wheeler's body was found in a ditch on the Kite-to-Adrian road with the top of his head blown off and a second shotgun, an automatic, across his body.

His right shoe was off, evidence indicating he walked along the road for some distance with it removed. Officers said he had stolen the second shotgun from a vacant house. The first had been stolen, they said, from the home of a neighbor.

Wheeler was about 23 years old and is survived by his mother, Mrs.
Shade Wheeler; his widow, two small children and three brothers and a sister.

Officers said he recently had had a disagreement with Mrs. Kirk-land's husband, but they attributed his running amok primarily to excessive drinking. Kirkland is a trapper.

CARPENTER TRIAL SLATED FOR TODAY

Judge To Act on Writ Filed by Defense; Taylor To Learn Fate.

Unless defense counsel is successful in its efforts to have certified a bill of exceptions, trial of Councilman W. Paul Carpenter, charged with bribery, will begin this morning in Judge Edgar E. Connerly's division of Fulton superior court, it was announced Sunday.

The indictment, containing three counts, alleges that Carpenter illegally gave Walter C. Taylor, former city clerk, part of a fee of $800 received from Mike Eklman, auctioneer, to influence Taylor not to assess certain license fees against the auction firm with which Eklman was connected, as well as to cause the city clerk to issue the firm of Clein & Eklman a jeweler's license.

Petition for certification of the bill of exceptions was submitted to Judge Pomeroy Saturday by Carpen-ter's attorneys, who previously had entered demurrers to specific allegations and technicalities of the bribery indictment. The court informed defense counsel that he would take the exceptions petition under advisement over the weekend and announce his decision Monday.

If the bill of exceptions is signed

TRYING DRY LAW PUZZLE OFFERED BY WILLEBRANDT

Former Fanatic Dry Now Appears in Opposite Role
To Disturb Peace of Old Aides.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.
United Press Staff Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(UP)—
The United States government has been pushed face to face with one of the hardest decisions in its history, the prohibition experiment by the genius of an attractive young woman.

The woman is Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt and the issue is whether it is contrary to the Volstead act to sell something which will turn to wine
if mixed with air and water.

Events have placed Mrs. Wille-brandt in a role few would have foreseen for her two years ago, now the legal advisor of Fruit Industries, Inc., which is beginning a nation-wide marketing of grape concentrate which is said to turn to wine if mixed with water and exposed to air. Mrs. Wille-brandt two years ago was assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition cases. She has just finished a state part in the Hoover-Smith presidential campaign in which she professed the prohibition issue and endured strong criticism from anti-prohibitionists, the like of which has seldom been vented on a woman. She crossed the country denouncing Alfred E. Smith as a man whose leadership would "enlarge avenues of nullification" and praised Mr. Hoover as a man who conceded to no man "the right of evasion or nullification of either the letter or spirit of the constitution or our laws."

Many of Mrs. Willebrandt's friends expected her to be rewarded with a higher political office for her important part in the election of President Hoover. But no such honor came. Instead, she was asked to leave the department and to help finance the law of "wines," an extract which, with the addition of water and yeast turns
into beer, and declared that prohibition was enforceable.

Meantime the California grape industry became glutted with over-production. Some way had to be found to dispose of the surplus. Mrs. Wille-brandt, it is said, helped finance the law of "wines," an extract which, with the addition of water and yeast turns
into beer, and declared that prohibition was enforceable.

Wrote a Book.
About this time she wrote a book.
In this book Mrs. Willebrandt described the political influence which has hampered enforcement, she criticized the evasion of the law so long as her and she soon afterward resigned and resumed law practice.

Two-Day Drive for $25,000 Confronts Chest Workers

With Community Chest workers facing their final two-day drive for funds to bring Atlanta's 1931 quota within attainment, information that at least $25,000 must be raised during today and Tuesday if the mark of $398,550 set is to be reached was issued by the organization, together with a stirring appeal from Mayor I.
N. Ragsdale for public support in the campaign.

If the goal is reached, a "victory dinner" will be staged Tuesday night on the roof of the Ansley hotel, and the need of protection throughout the coming winter and spring.

Cautioning chest workers against becoming overconfident, Mayor Ragsdale in his statement declared that
"a feeling that victory is inevitable may yet work to prevent a complete success." His statement follows:
"Atlanta, a city of warm and remarkable spirit, today and Tuesday faces a test of its fiber.

"The last and most difficult phase of the campaign to fill its Community Chest for 1931 lies just ahead.

"Close to $25,000 must be raised by Tuesday night if the minimum sum of $398,550 necessary to fulfill all its obligations of human welfare is attained. The last portion of a quota, like the last five yards of a football match, is the hardest part of the journey.

"And because the attainment of this goal is so important, because Atlanta's prestige as a city that does manfully and heartily a city's vital work is so unmistakably at stake, it is to be urged upon all men and women, both campaign workers and general public, to continue until the last hour in the same spirit that has made this campaign a triumph experience in the face of difficult conditions.

"Over-confidence would be fatal,
for the feeling that victory is inevitable may yet work to prevent a complete success.

"To the campaign workers: Once more into the breach, dear friends, for the men and women generally of Atlanta: Please give more, the need is greater! Atlanta must not fail!"

U. S. COURT ENTRY, METHODISTS CLOSE JURGED BY LEADERS

Prominent Citizens Indorse World Court as Peace Agency.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—(P)—A group of prominent Americans urged President Hoover, in a letter sent him today, to submit to the senate for ratification the protocols for American adherence to the World Court.
The support of the signers was pledged to the move.

"We, the undersigned American citizens," the letter said, "believe it is important for the honor and well-being of our country that the United States should promptly adhere to the Permanent Court of International Justice at The Hague, commonly known as the World Court. We believe that the rights and safety of the United States are amply protected in the protocols of adherence which have been signed by your direction and which conform to the policies of your predecessors, Presidents McKinley, Roosevelt, Taft, Wilson, Harding and Coolidge, in furthering a world court for the settlement of legal disputes between nations.

"We pledge you our support if you will submit the protocols to the senate asking for prompt ratification. We believe that such action taken by the United States during the coming winter will be of great influence in building up good will and confidence among all nations.

"We are signing this letter as individuals, in no way committing any organization with which we may be connected; but we want you to know our personal views of the matter."

The signers include General John J.
Pershing, Jane Addams, Newton D.
Baker, Matthew Wolf, Bishop Francis
J. McConnell, Norman Thomas, Joseph Daniels, Thomas W. Lamont, Admiral William S. Sims, Silas H.

as one of the supreme enemies of the human race, the foe of righteousness and of God. To the overthrow of this traffic Methodism has dedicated its labors, its means, its prayers and its pulpits.

"We do not do so to reaffirm our unfaltering allegiance and thus hereby do we now in advance publicly notify the republican party, the democratic party, the socialist party and any and all other political organiza-

votes, our preachers and with all other legitimate means in our power oppose any party organization or individual candidate committed to the repeal, emasculation, or modification of our prohibition laws, esteem-ing as we do, righteousness above party politics and feeling, as we do, that we must obey God rather than men."

Stronger Resolution Offered.
Another stronger resolution which would have put the conference on record favoring the organization of a third democratic independent party, was tabled by unanimous vote of the conference within a few minutes after its presentation.

Bishop Moore at 11 o'clock this morning preached at the church and the pulpits of all the churches in the city were filled by Methodist ministers.

Within this immediate section Rev.
J. A. Thomas, Columbus, preached at the 11 o'clock hour at Valdosta;
Rev. Leland Moore, at Cairo; Rev.
Mack Anthony at Meigs; Rev. J. M.
Glenn at Beaufort, and Rev. A. W.
Quillian, Jr., at Ochlocknee Baptist church.

At the anniversary observance of the board of temperance and social service, Rev. Benjamin F. Rogers, presiding elder of the Ocala district of the Florida conference, representing the general conference chairman of the same board, spoke on the probihibition question.

WILSON MEMORIAL AS GEORGIA LEGION 'CAPITOL' PLANNED

Officers Move To Launch Drive for Building in Piedmont Park in Honor of Democratic Leader.

The American Legion, Georgia department, will expedite plans for establishment in Piedmont park of a 150-room memorial building in honor of Woodrow Wilson, equaling in importance the legion's national home at Indianapolis. This was announced Sunday afternoon at a special conference of post commanders and service officers at the Ansley hotel.

The Wilson memorial, it was decided, will form a "state capitol" for Legionnaires in Georgia, and will house the state department's head quarters, the Atlanta Post No. 1 and the Legion auxiliary officers.

Action on the proposed memorial,
which will contain a museum of Wilson War Library and archives for the various headquarters division, was taken on adoption of a resolution submitted by a committee headed by Quincy M. Patton, Jr., and was one of the outstanding features of the conference which had been called by State Commander J. N. McClellan, of Atlanta. More than 275 officers of the 104 individual posts throughout the state were in attendance, as well as a large delegation of members of the auxiliary.

Rehabilitation Discussed.
Other matters discussed during the conference Sunday pertained to rehabilitation of disabled former service men, the 1931 program of community activities of the department, work of the auxiliary, unemployment and Americanism.

Speakers at the conference, which was divided into two large groups, included Congressman Robert Ram-speak and Sam Rutherford; Frank E.
Samuels, of Indianapolis, assistant national adjutant; John M. Staton, Jr., C. C. Brown, Washington, D. C., national service officer; Mrs. Boyce Ficklin, Jr., Washington, Ga., post
national president of the auxiliary;
Mrs. E. F. Travis, of Griffin, president of the department auxiliary;
Mrs. Harvey Kennedy, of Greenville, secretary; Mrs. Allen Henson, Atlanta, past president, and Mrs. J. A.
Toomey, Atlanta, department historian.

Both Representatives Ramspeak and Rutherford declared that they were sympathetic to the utmost extent with the aims and objectives of the American Legion. Lack of progressive attitude toward rehabilitation in congress, Representative Rutherford said, had hindered largely an opinion in the house of the republicans membership.

He expressed the belief that the next congress will show a greater degree of understanding of the needs of rehabilitated veterans and expressed the belief that if the national Legion will frame a bill embodying the outstanding needs of such veterans, rehabilitated men such a measure would find favor in the next session of the house and senate.

Importance of Membership.
Mr. Samuels stressed the importance of membership, urging that each post throughout the department strive for more members. He characterized the Legion as the "watchword" of membership those who stood for the upholding and defense of the constitution of the United States; maintenance of law and order; fostering and perpetuating of the memories and the preservation of America's part in the World War; service to community, state and nation; and supremacy of "right over might."

"Membership," said Mr. Samuels,
"is a live, throbbing thing. It lives for the disabled veterans and their dependents. It lives for every homeless man, woman and child who needs it lives for all service men, and for every man, woman and child outside the organization. Membership is the voice of the Legion and its influence is great enough that the world listens when it speaks."

Mr. Samuels paid a high tribute to the interest being evinced throughout the Georgia department in membership drives, and pointed to the time when this state stood at the head of all other states in point of membership.

"Buy More" Move Lauded.
The conference tackled the problem of unemployment as a major issue, indorsing without a dissenting voice
the action recently taken in an executive session of the national organization of the "buy more" campaign.

It is hoped that each of the 10,400 legion posts throughout the country will make a determined effort to arouse the sympathetic interest of employers,

ALABAMA METHODIST CONFERENCE CLOSES

Bishop W. N. Ainsworth Delivers Annual Sermon to Congregation.

MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 23.—(AP)—With the assignment of ministers to their respective charges for the ensuing year, ordination of deacons and elders, and the annual memorial service, the ninety-eighth annual session of the Alabama conference, Methodist Episcopal church, south, came to a close today after being in session since Tuesday night. During this time voluminous business was transacted in the nature of adoption of reports, election of boards, officers and committees, fixing of policies and transaction of other business.

An old-fashioned Methodist love feast was held this morning, preceding the annual sermon by Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, presiding bishop of the conference, who presided over the sessions here. Immediately following the sermon the bishop ordained a class of deacons, including Reverends John Thaddeus Ellison, Holman Clyde Bass, John Frazer Chalker, Robert Andrew Wright, James Walker Kelly, Jr., and Thomas Phelps Chalker.

Bishop Ainsworth preached on "Faith." Defining faith as "belief in action" and the master word in the vocabulary of the Almighty, he called the people to a living sense of the power and presence of a living God and to an unalienable faith in Him. He said faith in God is the same principle which underlies every business enterprise and is not more mysterious. The bishop said true faith believes that God's kingdom should be set up here and now. He said there are very few real atheists in the world, notwithstanding the boasts of Clarence Darrow and those of his kind.

Narcotics Den Found On Brooklyn Street

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—(AP)—The simple folk of Bergen street, Brooklyn, who marveled for a long time at the parade of limousines that stopped before an unpretentious apartment house there, finally told police about it.

Early today the police raided the house and found it to be a beautifully appointed narcotics den. They arrested three women and two men and seized a large quantity of narcotics.

CALIFORNIA CALM AFTER HIGH WINDS

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 23.—(AP)—A warm sun beamed over a comparatively calm southern California today in contrast to the dust-laden, destructive gale of yesterday, which killed six persons, ruined thousands of dollars worth of citrus fruit and wrought damage to property in four counties.

The outlying district, particularly from the trees by a gale which at times reached an 85-mile velocity, covered the ground. Hundreds of trees were uprooted.

BRITISH AUTO DRIVER TO SEEK NEW RECORD

LONDON, Nov. 23.—(UP)—Captain Malcolm Campbell, British speed driver, announced today he had decided to attempt to break the world's motor car speed record at Daytona Beach, Fla., between January 26 and February 7. He will use the third Blue Bird motor car at present nearing completion. The record at present is held by the late Major Sir Henry Segrave.

Segrave drove his Golden Arrow 231 miles an hour at Daytona Beach on March 11, 1929. He was killed at Windermere, England, on June 13, last, when his speed boat, Miss England II, capsized while he was attempting to set a world's record.

DRASTIC IMMIGRATION CUT URGED BY REED

Pennsylvanian Would Halt All But Members of Families.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(AP)—The barring for two years beginning next July 1 of all quota immigration except the immediate relatives of persons already in the United States was proposed as an unemployment remedy today by Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania.

The Pennsylvania, a member of the senate immigration committee, said he would introduce a resolution at the coming session to carry out the two-year suspension and predicted it would pass "almost unanimously."

The proposal bears the indorsement of Secretary Davis, who will resign his cabinet position to become junior senator from Pennsylvania next week. After reading the Reed resolution, the labor secretary said:

"That is good. I tried to get congress to do that very thing last winter and I am for it."

The resolution would exclude Filipinos as well as Europeans and others. Unlimited entry of all we have done and propose to do in restricting the entry of Europeans and persons from Central and South America."

Reed said if his proposal were passed early in the session beginning next week it would become effective before July 1, although all visas issued prior to its passage would be honored inasmuch as they are valid for four months.

"To some extent this will tend to prevent the spread of unemployment in this country," he said. "The welfare of our people must take precedence over the desire of aliens to enter the United States. Every arriving alien who comes here to earn a living in times like the present either displaces some one now at work or becomes in some degree a public charge. To permit new immigrants to enter the country at this time is unfair to both our own workers and to those who come expecting to find work."

"This is a problem that touches every American," he continued. "To suspend immigration will not in any way modify the permanent solution of our immigration policy as embodied in the immigration act of 1924, nor weaken the national origin principle on which it is built. The present quotas would continue to govern the admission of relatives described in the present law as non-quota and quota-preference immigrants."

"This group includes unmarried children under 21 years of age, husbands and wives of American citizens and the parents of American citizens, subject to the general restrictions of the immigration act relating to illiteracy and mental, moral, and physical health."

KNOXVILLE ENGRAVER SAID POISON VICTIM

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 23.—(AP)—Agee J. Thomas, 45, general manager of the Knoxville Engraving Company, died today after taking what Homelide Chief Day said was a quantity of poison. Police said his family found him in a dying condition in the bathroom of his home.

TEXAS DAM BREAK DOES BIG DAMAGE

Break in Great Dam
Sends Torrent Roaring Down Nueces Valley.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, Nov. 23.—(UP)—A break in Matias dam sent a torrent of 500,000 gallons of water an hour sweeping down the Nueces river valley tonight.

The flood waters engulfed two small settlements, but it was believed all persons in the path escaped. Live stock and poultry suffered heavily, however. Property damage also will be high. Seepage was thought to have caused the break.

The dam is located on Lake Loven, which is the source of Corpus Christi's water supply.

The dirt embankment crashed first. Concrete abutments were threatened by the torrential flow from the lake, which has a capacity of 7,000 acre feet.

The break threatened to leave 50,000 persons here without drinking water until repairs can be made.

The dam is 40 miles from here. The Corpus Christi pumping station lay directly in the path of the onrushing water, which was expected to reach the pumping station about midnight.

The break occurred in a dirt embankment at noon. Other sections of the dam gave way quickly.

A new 50-foot spillway crashed at 5:30 p. m.

Forty-four deputy sheriffs on horses, in commandeered automobiles and on foot sped through the threatened valley, warning farm residents of the approaching flood.

A 28-mile section of the valley, lying between Lake Matias and Corpus Christi bay, was swept by the flood. Corpus Christi itself was not in danger.

So great was the force of the water that it uprooted large trees. Heavy

Thanksgiving Dinner Costs Less This Year

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—(AP)—The Thanksgiving dinner that cost $7.70 for a family of five last year is $2.18 cheaper now.

The New York American a year ago published a menu for the Thanksgiving Day table, providing turkey, oysters, vegetables, fruit and coffee, at a total cost of $7.70. The same menu today, the newspaper said, costs $5.52.

concrete slabs, broken off the dam, were tossed about in the swift current.

Fifty men, recruited from the sheriff's office, worked frantically tonight at the dam to prevent further destruction. Despite their efforts, the spillways grew in size.

The first hole torn in the dam was 70 feet long and four feet deep.

City officials here, alarmed over possibility of the city's water supply being impaired, advised all residents to draw out water only for drinking purposes before the pumping station is flooded.

The flood waters engulfed the settlements of Lafruda and Blunzer, below the lake, without apparent loss of life. Thousands of dollars worth of live stock and poultry drowned, however.

At 8 p. m., Deputy Sheriff R. R. Bell said that the break had widened considerably and that the lake's level had fallen six feet.

Below the dam, water was from three to five feet deep over thousands of acres. The river, normally not more than 70 feet wide at any point, was 1,100 feet across. Pieces of wreckage, small outbuildings, and bodies of drowned live stock floated with the current.

The Southern Pacific railroad rushed three section crews to guard its tracks between Matias and San Dia. The men labored by light of flares to protect trestles and hold back the waters with hastily erected banks of dirt and stone.

Bell said fishermen were the first to discover the break. They gave the alarm so quickly that, Bell believed, the waters would pour into the Gulf of Mexico with little or no loss of life.

The dam, completed less than a year ago, cost $2,500,000.

FOUR ARE KILLED IN PLANE CRASHES

Toll of Death Reported
As Other Fliers Seek
New Records.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Airplanes did a great deal of sky writing in several parts of the world yesterday, not unmixed with tragedy.

Four persons—three in South America and one in Ohio—were killed. A woman completed a solo flight from Pittsburgh to Havana. Another flew into New York from Middletown, Pa., covering 180 miles in an hour.

An Italian hydroplane, which has been missing in the Mediterranean since Friday, was unreported and believed lost. She carried two passengers and a crew of five.

A triple tragedy of the air occurred at Constitution, a small village in Santa Fe province, Argentina, where a plane fell and was partly consumed by flames. The bodies of three men were found in the wreckage.

The plane was the Junkers "El Condor de Bolivia," in which three Bolivian aviators set out Saturday on a non-stop flight from Buenos Aires to La Paz.

J. F. Roquardt, a Cleveland, Ohio, pilot, was killed when his plane crashed at Wellington, Ohio.

A round-the-world trip was started by Barclay Warburton, Jr., who took off from Camden, N. J., for Norfolk, Va. His plans call for jumps to Florida and San Diego. From the latter port he will ship his plane to Shanghai, where he will resume flight to London and then travel the remaining distance by boat.

Gerald Nettleton landed at Midland, Texas, to spend the night before hopping off today for San Diego where he will end his journey.

Continental record attempt instead of as Los Angeles, as he intended.

Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller completed her Pittsburgh-to-Havana flight, and Miss Ruth Nichols finished her interrupted flight from Cincinnati to New York.

Franklin Is Given New Automobile By Congregation

Transferred to the South Georgia conference after four years of service as pastor of the Park Street Methodist church here, the Rev. Marvin A. Franklin, at the conclusion of his farewell sermon Sunday night, was presented with a new automobile by the congregation.

R. L. Ramsey, superintendent of the Sunday school and leader of the Ramsey Bible class, presented Mr. Franklin with the keys to the gleaming sedan, which, during the services, had been parked on the lawn of the church under the glare of two spot-lights.

A. Rhodes, teacher of the Rhodes Bible class, then acted as spokesman for his group in presenting the popular minister with a handsome suit of clothes.

Mrs. Franklin, who has been active in the affairs of her husband's church, was not forgotten in the round of gift-giving. She was the recipient of a wrist-watch, suitably engraved, a token of the affection in which she is held by the young people's department of the church.

The Franklins, whose south Georgia charge has not been announced, were presented with an automobile upon the beginning of the minister's pastorate at Park Street four years ago.

RIB STOPS BULLET AND FOILS SUICIDE

W. M. Massey, 35-year-old mechanic, of 699 Cherokee avenue, attempted to take his own life early Sunday night by firing a .22-caliber bullet into his left chest, according to a statement made to Patrolman Joe Wiley at Grady hospital by the man's mother.

Massey refused to discuss the affair, but his mother declared that domestic trouble probably was responsible for the act. She said that Massey and his wife were separated and that a few minutes before the attempted suicide he had talked to her in Gainesville by long-distance telephone.

The wound would have been fatal, physicians at Grady stated, had not the bullet been deflected by a rib. Massey was treated and dismissed.

1 DEAD, 1 WOUNDED IN SHOTGUN DUEL

MUSKOGON, Mich., Nov. 23.—(AP) Hatton Peugh, 54, farm hand, is dead and Henry Jacobs, 45, farmer and Peugh's brother-in-law, is in serious condition as the result of a fight with shotguns last night on the Jacobs farm near here.

The fight is said to have been an outgrowth of the theft of several chickens and $60 from Jacobs two months ago.

Clear, Warmer Weather Seen For City Today

Fair weather, with slightly higher temperatures, was the official Washington forecast for Atlanta and vicinity today and tonight, with the prospect of continued clear skies, but cooler weather in this section Tuesday. Moderate west and southwest winds, becoming fresh northwest tonight, will keep the clouds away, it was said.

For the 24-hour period ended Sunday night at 8 o'clock Atlanta had a range of temperatures running from a low of 40 to a maximum of 58 degrees. No rainfall was recorded in this area.

burg said flood conditions there also were serious.

FIVE KILLED, 20 INJURED BY STORMS IN PARIS AREA

PARIS, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Five dead and about 20 injured were the toll today of three days of storms, culminating in a severe gale in Paris last night and early today.

The Atlantic seaboard towns and channel ports suffered the heaviest. Three of the dead were Lorient fishermen, drowned in the capsizing of their smack. The other deaths occurred at Boulogne and Rouen.

The injuries occurred mostly as a result of falling bricks from chimneys, slate from roofs, and signboards torn down from walls.

The Eiffel tower registered a wind velocity of 90 miles an hour at 2 a. m. Navigation on the River Seine was at a standstill from Paris to Havre.

The river rose steadily throughout the night, but dry weather and a hot sun today alleviated conditions. Meteorological experts said danger of a disastrous flood was past.

Advices from Le Mans said the return of fair weather had also reassured residents in the valleys of the Huisne and Sarthe rivers, which had been extremely threatening early this morning. Occupants of numerous farms and shops had been forced to evacuate.

At Havre the wind reached a velocity of 70 miles an hour, accompanied by hail, thunder and lightning. The Boulevard Clemenceau and Normand shipyards were flooded.

At Rouen the captain of a barge and father of five children was killed by a falling derrick.

At the Villacoublay airfield the roofs were torn off two hangars and several planes were damaged.

Vineyards at Theims were ravaged by gales. In Boulogne 20 craft, mostly fishing smacks and small trawlers, were torn from their moorings and driven aground. One sailor was killed.

The Austerre bridge on the Yonne river was carried away. At Nantes the lower quarters of the city were under water, with the River Loire still rising. Reports from Metz said the water was continuing to rise and that much damage already had been caused at several points in the department of Moselle.

A villa at Deauville was blown off the beach. It was not occupied.

FIVE MEN AND WOMAN RESCUED FROM BARGE

SOUTHEND, Eng., Nov. 23.—(AP) Five men and one woman were rescued in an exhausted condition today when three barges became water-logged during a heavy gale.

The woman, Mrs. Lily Blythe, wife of captain of one of the boats, averted aboard as mate. She said while the rough seas threatened to swamp the boat, they poured kerosene on blankets and set them afire as they had no flares. Then, when the blankets gave out they burned all extra clothing.

For three weeks the court has been devoting its time almost exclusively to the preparation of written opinions on these and some two dozen other outstanding cases, the results of which will have a far-reaching effect.

The burglar escaped by a side door, which was found open by policemen on the beat. I. H. Lefkoff, manager, was not able to state whether any narcotics had been stolen.

Museum Exhibits, Lecture Attract Sunday Crowds

Several hundred people visited the High Museum of Art Sunday, attracted by the exhibitions of F. Luis Mora, famous American painter in oils, and by the water colors and etchings of Douglas Brown.

In the afternoon Millicent Strange Edison, master craftsman of the Boston Society of Craftsman, lectured on "Enamels," with illustrations by more than a score of colored slides provided by the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Mrs. Edison, formerly of London, but now of Atlanta, is an authority on this subject. She traced the historical development of the art of enameling through the Chinese and Egyptian developments of the art to the early days of art in England and Ireland.

The Mora and Brown exhibitions, two of the finest ever seen in Atlanta, will remain at the museum through Saturday. There is no charge for admission and the museum is open daily from 10 to 5 and on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings from 7 to 10.

LET DEMOCRATS BE WISE.

It is more than a year yet, normally, before the new congress should get into action. Unless an extra session of it is fatuously forced upon President Hoover by failures or filibusters of the existing congress in the short session to begin Monday week, the aspect of the country's condition and needs may, probably, will, greatly change. It is not conceivable that they will continue as now unless by the deliberate conduct of recalcitrant or demagogic congressmen.

Especially is it desirable that the democrats in the congress should be wise and wary, and sanely careful not to destroy the prospects of a 1932 victory in the nation for the party. They should realize that the general electorate is in a nervous state of feeling, that sentiment is on a knife-edge as between the major parties, and that to attract it winningly to the democratic party two years hence the hope of good from it growing among the people must be encouraged and not frightened by democratic party proposals.

Confidence in the fidelity and wisdom of the republican party has diminished amazingly since 1928. Its star is in eclipse and gloom overcasts the republican firmament.

The democrats can conserve those conditions by wise and conservative actions between now and the fall of 1932. But if they allow the radicals in the party to offer gold-bribe propositions to the people and hold out promises they can have no hope to redeem they will repeat what President Grant discovered—that "the democrats may be trusted to act the damned fool at the right time to profit the republican party."

So the duty of democratic leaders now forward is to put the fundamental principles of the party before the people and suppress all legislative buncombe and fanciful, if not actually fanatical, schemes as baits for popular favor.

SANE STATE GOVERNMENT.

The sensible thing for the people of a state to do is to determine definitely just what functions and services they want their state government to perform. Having done that, the next business step is to set up a budgetary system to determine in advance of legislation how much those functions and services, to be reasonably satisfactory to the people, will cost in cash dollars and cents.

Those common-sense things having been done, the legislature should be demanded to find the necessary revenues to maintain those functions and services. All the revenues should go into the treasury and allocated out of it by specific appropriations within the budget estimates. Splitting the revenues up into different funds to be handled at will by the several departments has involved the state in its present deplorable fiscal troubles.

If good roads are to be built upon a definite plan, and an agricultural bureau required to render specific services to the people, and an educational system is to be supported for the children of the state, and so on, let those institutions, whatever and how many the people demand, be established by law and the necessary money for them be calculated in the budget and provided in the appropriation act held rigidly within the calculable prospective revenue.

Guesswork, log-rolling and sectional trading in those matters may still "agin the administration."

thereby be eliminated, while a governor bent upon efficient and economic government can compel the legislature to work upon a sane and practical plane—safe for the state functions and institutions and absolutely immune from overappropriations and aggravating deficits without legal responsibility.

BLACK'S WHITE LIGHT.

The one man in the southeast whose word on financial conditions will be accepted by the people generally with most confidence is Governor Eugene R. Black, of the federal reserve bank for this reserve district.

Governor Black is not given to swelling his statements for optimistic effects. He is an experienced and fully informed banker. He values the confidence of the people too much to abuse it by anything that would misinform and mislead it. His conservatism is one of his most trustworthy traits.

He says frankly that business conditions are less depressed and less to be feared by the southern people than by those in other sections of the country. That opinion is confirmed by official financial reports issued from New York and carefully prepared by the ablest statistical experts. The southern banks, according to Governor Black, have $10,000,000,000 of resources and these are foundations for popular confidence and insurance of future business prosperity.

There have been bank failures, closures for readjustments, and because of immediately inconceivable assets. The causes for these financial setbacks are so obvious that they constitute no real bases for general alarm and panicky feelings. The southern people generally are well conditioned and whatever slowest there appears in business movements is due to conservation of, rather than lack of, means.

Our people are mostly only marking time until the rest of the nation reforms its lines and activities. Governor Black knows what he is talking about and the people will believe him. The revival of their confidence and consumption is not far ahead.

THE LIVES OF MOTHERS.

The maternal mortality rate of the nation due to puerperal causes is a cause of national concern.

Official statistics from the cities, where the facilities for saving mothers from child-bearing fatalities should be at their best, show that in many of them the death rate is lamentably above the national average. It is especially so in our southern cities, with an obvious explanation in the large proportion of negro population, among whom there is great lack of provision against child-bearing perils.

The national average maternal deaths from child-births is 7.6 per 1,000. In Atlanta it is 9.6, while in Memphis it is 16, Nashville 14.7, Birmingham 14.4 and Jacksonville 14.1. The three first named are the highest in the nation. The lowest rates are 3.1 in Oakland, Cal., and 3.6 in Duluth, "where the sky comes down at the same distance all around."

Every successful birth is calculated to have an economic value of $1,000 to the nation, so that to save both the child and the mother is a distinctly worthwhile investment that every community should be both humane and selfish enough to make.

Scott McBride is hunting some way to get the Anti-Saloon subscription circulating again through the churches, but the churches have financial troubles of their own.

The railroads oppose government-supported waterways, but the government guarantees profits to the railroads if they will operate to make them.

The New Hampshire senator can probably now answer the old question, "Where was Moses when the light went out?"

Trying to cut aliens out of congressional apportionments comes too late. The time to count them out was before they got in among us.

Henry Ford says the country is "all okay," and if we were sitting as pretty as Henry we would say "Amen."

Leading actors and actresses are deserting the movies. They miss the thrilling psychic inter-plays between the stage and the audience.

The president is likely to look upon Senator Capper as a back-capper of administration proposals.

The country has reached the conviction that the Wickersham commission's report will be a dud.

It is daily announced by the W. C. T. U. that it will not vote for a wet. No news in that.

The business puzzle is to make the people buy what they want and can well afford.

The republicans propose to find their scape-goats in the income tax-payers.

The stock market appears to be still "agin the administration."

Hats and Veils.

Women, whatever else may be said of them in extenuation, we must agree, are seldom very sane. Nevertheless they obey the dictates of fashion without a kick. Just look at them passing by. It's the same thing whether you take an observation post on 34th street at the height of the shopping hour, on the Madeleine boulevard in Paris or at the intersection of Unter den Linden and Friedrichstrasse in Berlin, you will see that they all wear the same hat.

Some months ago they hid under a little thing they called a cloche. Today they affect a cover that resembles a certain type of ecclesiastical skull cap. At least this is the nearest we can approach the new invention for comparison. But this is the very question: Is it the new type of hat becoming? Certainly not every man thinks so. Many of the masculine fraternity would be prepared to join with the shout: Away with that dreary skull cap! If there was only somebody to start the hue and cry.

But who is going to do that? Come a martyr? It might be a good moment for one of those long distance heroes, known as bachelors, to come forward and do it. He would have nothing to lose and great gratification to gain.

And then another thing! By the look of things, the veil, so dear to our grandmothers and great-grandmothers, is going to make a reappearance in the world. Of course, it's only a modest little affair this new type of veil we see about here and there. It scarcely covers the eyes. But watch it grow! For grow it will. Leave that to the hat makers and designers. The longer the veil, the more money. Those boys know their business just as well as the dressmakers and designers or creators of style as they call themselves.

Think what a revolution these gentlemen produced within recent years with the skirt. From a scanty, almost negligible kilts-like affair, it grew and grew till today it trails the ground like the gala gown of Moses in Cecil De Mille's "Ten Commandments." This is the way it will go with the veil. The veil is romantic. Madame, the hatmaker, will whisper shrewdly but as soberly as a judge, "Romantic and exotic. That kind of vocabulary does wonders with women. We all know it. Those boys know their business, said. And then, the salesman will go on, "madame knows of course that lace holds perfume such a long time." Madame might never have heard of this before.

—And she's always ready to lose and profit by disinterested advice. "A little iris with that veil, madame, or does madame prefer violets?" That's the way they talk. And then, the shrewd psychologists that they are, the expert connoisseurs of the feminine heart! They win every time.

But what do they care? They are the silent sufferers in this drama. They give us a courteous bow. They smile, they hum and haw, they pivot. But when they turn, they say, "our 'madames' go out of the store in a sort of ecstatic flush, clutching the purchase or wearing it, those salesmen will turn upon us a look that says one thing and one thing only: 'God you that time, young fellow, my lad!' And right they are, by George!"

Fascist History.

The new reading books compiled and published by the Italian government for the use of the primary schools are now on sale. This is the first time that a government has published itself directly with the public education of small children, giving a definite trend to the formation of their minds from which it is not permitted to deviate, though teachers have scope for developing instruction on the lines laid down.

Naturally the dominant note all through the books is exaltation of fascism. Primary history and geography are on new lines. Beyond general notions about the earth and solar system, geography is limited to a description of Italy and her colonies, giving the characteristic features of each region, with photographs.

History for this year's course is also limited to Italy and her empire, starting away with the nineteenth century. It carries the children through the phases and struggles of the "Risorgimento," the unification of Italy, the rise of Mazzini and Victor Emmanuel II. Then comes an account of the great war on land, on sea and in the air, which it is not permitted to deviate from, and heroes, who are Cesare Battisti, Nazario Sauro, Enrico Toti, and Benito Mussolini.

The battle of Vittorio Veneto features as an article of faith for the Italian schoolboy. In one of the readings an imaginary dialogue takes place between schoolmaster and children, who are told to be ready to fight in the future generations that "it was Italy who won the war with the battle of Vittorio Veneto; now repeat this, Sergio, Anselmo."

Then the children repeat: "E state l'Italia: vincere la guerra, con la battaglia di Vittorio Veneto."

WHAT'S IT ALL ABOUT?

Do you know what it's all about? Some people think they do. They're smart. They know it all. They've been around and seen things. They know all the angles. They know how to get things done. They're wise eggs. They know what it's all about. They think they do. . . . But I doubt it.

I've seen some people. I've known a few. More than once I've envied them when they were on top of the world and cooing and enjoying the fruits of their energy and drive. They've seemed to me, then, like half-wild, at least, wonderful beings who knew just how to manipulate the great forces of this life to their advantage. I've seen them climbing to power in business or even in a university faculty and they've almost made me believe that they do know what it's all about. . . .

But I've seen some of them later, and I've seen—plainly as I can—how they really didn't know what it's all about. They looked so cramped and so forlorn, like children who have been suddenly slapped.

They thought they knew, but they were merely rash and self-seeking children who had never grown up and were pretending to themselves and were just as ignorant as the rest of us. Sometimes you meet men or women who are far on top and you find that they know or suspect what life is like. They're gotten inside of it, and they are wise. And sometimes you meet a man who has failed, in the eyes of the world, and made terrible mistakes, and you discover that he is wise

The Problem of Fitting the State Around Only Ten Congress Members.

Naturally the probability that Georgia will lose two representatives in the federal congress for the coming year is a subject of some interest and no little excited comment among the citizens of the state.

Most persons interested are asking the question: "Who of the present dozen congressmen are going to lose their jobs?" As though all of the dozen have a pre-emptive title to their seats in the house of representatives at Washington and that the new census is about to knock two of the members out of their otherwise inalienable jobs.

The fact is, however, that the people in each congressional district are the owners of the inalienable right, which is the power and privilege to change their representative in the congress at the regular election held every two years.

Congress Fixes Its Number. By the constitution congress has the authority to fix the number of its membership in the house. The only limitation upon it is that the state shall have at least one representative and that there shall not be more than one representative for each 30,000 inhabitants.

Of course that latter constitutional limitation was promptly outgrown. By the first census in 1790 the quota jumped to 33,000 and grew through the other censuses to that of 1910, when it was fixed at 211,877.

With the population of the states found to be 122,755,000 it results that if congress holds its house membership at the present figure of 435, the resultant quota per member must be 282,200. It is quite likely that congress will fix that limit, as to proceed upon the 1920 quota of 219,000 would raise the membership of the house to 560, an increase of 125 members.

It seems Georgia will lose. Keeping the house at 435 members inevitably would mean that Georgia must lose two of her present 12 members.

Our official population is placed at 2,068,506 and the proposed quota of 282,200 per member gives us a proportion of 10.3 only, and that three-fifths composition of ten equal districts "needed to count us into an eleven member.

Eleven of the states will gain 27 members and 21 other states will lose. Our loss of two members will drop the state, because of its population, from twelfth rank in the Union to fourteenth rank. North Carolina rising from fourteenth to displace us at the twelfth and we taking North Carolina's abandoned fourteenth rank.

But what can we do about it? We failed in the past 10 years to gain the count of black skin. Hip length and width of the shoulders in the natural line down with much cross stitch in vivid colors, large wool roses and plentifully sprinkled with insets of black satin.

Vivid cerise satin slippers made the Moran fest festive to say the least. But Polly was hat-minded last night so she had pulled out a new one on a good sports model of black ball-bust slippers turned up in front and down in back.

She left on during the evening. And her applause was hearty and loud and sincere. She and Marie Dressler have become great pals during the year, as the last movie has shown. Polly had a notch or so. For Marie Dressler has been a great social favorite and is grande dame to the fingertips when she so pleases.

When a Pasadena or a Santa Monica or Los Angeles goes Fabula and buys his new dress, he is still as reckless as a lad would be in some other vicinity.

He lists himself with the studios and takes his usual motor to movie moguls for $100 a day. Which takes the fine edge off ex-film stars and which does a lot to maintain up-to-date in the charge of the long list of studio executives and actors with foreign-made models really comes first. But after a model has been used several times in large studios, the canny director is on the outlook for something different.

It's a gag for the gilded youth from Pasadena. Quite a few of them pick up their gin-money this-away.

And now Daisy De Voe will write her book "My Life with Clara Bow" which will probably explain to you the life of her fire, her visits to the district attorney's office and her threatened lawsuit against both Clara Bow and the powers that maintain law and order in this neighborhood.

Whenever a lady goes canary in this village watch out for a book, a picture debut, a little ditty to be marketed, or some fine trick which will bring in cash to its fair owner.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered by DR. S. PARKES CADMAN.

Questions from Constitution readers are answered daily by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, radio minister of the Federal City Church of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the questions thought in the many letters which he receives.

Richmond, Va.

In what language did God speak to Adam in the Garden of Eden?

In the language of experience, not of actual words. The human heart has a speech all its own, which is the source of all other speech. Be-cause the glory of the language which the garden is an extended parable.

and discerning and understanding and knows more than the powerful know.

So I don't believe any man can know what it is all about until he realizes the mystery of life, until he understands profoundly that he will never know what it is all about, and that what is just beyond his fingertips.

We live in mystery. Other people are mysterious to us and we are mysterious to them. The greatest fun is trying to puzzle the mystery out, struggling to put together the greatigsaw puzzle of life. And if you know that life is a mystery, it cannot disappoint you too deeply. It cannot break your heart.

But if ever you boast that you know what it's all about, it can tear you to pieces.

565,000 additional population to entitle us to 12 representatives. We gained, in fact, less than 13,000 more people than we had 10 years ago in 1920.

The Problem of Redistricting. It is required by the acts of congress and is to follow each census as early as possible that the next census for ten years may be adjusted to the census. And the constitution and laws of the United States are made by our own constitution the laws of supreme authority in this state.

The general assembly cannot wisely and safely refuse to redistrict the state and provide for the election of ten representatives upon a state-wide general ticket.

It was owing to a prolonged contest in the 26th congress in 1838, growing out of a disputed election in New Jersey, a state then electing representatives on a general ticket, that congress in 1842 enacted the law making the election of representatives in congress by districts mandatory on all the states. They are required to be chosen in districts previously ascertained by law and it will not be the Georgia legislature to ignore that law.

Electing Members at Large. Where a state has only one representative, he, of course, is elected by the voters of the state at large.

Where one or more additional representatives are allocated to a state and there has not been opportunity for the legislature to redistrict the state those additional members are elected at large.

That happened in Georgia under the census of 1880 when our delegation went from 10 to 11 and Hon. Thomas Hardeman, of Macon, was elected congressman at large. But the next general assembly made eleven districts and each elected its own representative for the following eighteen years.

Illinois, for instance, has elected two members at large ever since 1910, because there was no reapportionment by congress under the census of 1920 and because "down state" has refused to allow Chicago to absorb those two extra representatives.

The Only Right Procedure.

The only right and becoming way for the treatment of this problem is for the general assembly to constitute apportionment committees of square-dealing members, who will legally and equitably compose ten equal districts throughout the state.

"Gerrymandering" for personal or sectional advantage is manifestly disapproved by the constitution and is denounced since old Elbridge Gerry invented the rascally device to defraud the people.

A physical majority of Georgians are honest and in this matter particularly they will want a fair and just apportionment of the ten representatives so that all the people of the state may be duly and honestly spoken for in the great hall of national legislation.

THE MOST ESSENTIAL SUBJECT FOR A HIGH SCHOOL GIRL.

Many boys and girls ask me for information or advice about the study of medicine or nursing. I have no data on the requirements or courses or schools. I'd say to any boy or girl who contemplates a career as doctor or nurse, if you're sure your inspiration is genuine, go to it, and heaven bless you. And I would not intend to pass the buck to heaven—what I mean is that anybody would find real happiness in helping or encouraging the youth with such high ambition.

Doctoring, these days, seems to be a hard and unenviable life for a young person, man or woman, to choose—but maybe that is because my eyes are not so young as they were when I eluded the life.

Nursing seems to me the noblest career a woman can choose. Only motherhood itself is so fine. But then, there is a great deal to be said for a girl who enters upon this calling—it is not a profession in any sense of the word. Some of the demands made upon her call for all her courage and moral strength, and if she has gone into nursing lightly or in any uncertainty of her love for the life, she will find it a very hard one.

On the other hand, if she is sure of her inspiration, she can meet every demand smiling and with the smile is one of the beautiful things in this world. The other is the smile of a mother—but never mind the other.

Physic, chemistry, geology, astronomy—I don't know whether it was because these subjects were so helpful or because I happened to have a certificate of morals from the science department of the high school in his city. On the other hand, physiology, hygiene, zoology, botany, after a model has been used several times in large studios, the canny director is on the outlook for something different.

The majority of our public servants are as honest as the rest of us and a prevailing number are high principled and conscientious men and women. To lose faith in them is to lose faith in democracy. They are its children, its representatives and its advocates.

Avoid that cynical attitude which is symptomatic of a jaundiced soul. No cause, however, sacrilegious, succeeds unless we cultivate the mutual confidence and respect which the cynic scorn.

FOUR MEN, WOMAN HELD IN ROBBERY

Quintet Confesses Hold-up of New Orleans Bank, Police Report.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Reputed confessions of four men and a woman alleged to have taken $7,500 from a branch bank in a daring raid, were tonight in possession of police, while three police officers and a citizen were reported recovering from bullet wounds received in a gun battle that followed the robbery.

Four men, Austin Hart, George O'Day, Donald Ryan and Otto Jacobs, and a woman, Edna Hart, believed to be the wife of Austin Hart, have made full confessions of the hold-up, police reported.

The quintet were captured early today after 40 officers, armed with sub-machine guns, revolvers and sawed-off shotguns, laid siege to, and raided, with bullets and slugs, a house in the lower section of the city to which the alleged bandits fled after the hold-up with motorcycle police and citizenry in pursuit.

Meanwhile Police Corporal Thomas

Walker told police he was on the second floor of the rooming house where both men lived when Myers advanced up the stairs toward him brandishing a stick in a threatening manner.

In self-defense, he said, he yanked an iron rod off a hatrack and killed Myers with a blow on the head.

Kieran and Patrolman Fred Wilson and Louis C. Alberts lay in a hospital in serious condition from wounds received during the bandit chase, which for excitement and gun play perhaps equaled anything in the city's criminal history. Raymond Rizzo, 39, a casual witness of the holdup, who tried to aid in the bandit pursuit, was also wounded.

One of the alleged robbers, George O'Day, was also wounded, being hit by a machine gun bullet as he is said to have been climbing over the roof of the house to which the police laid siege.

The holdup occurred last night when four bandits, wielding guns, and shouting threats and profanity, descended upon the Rochelav branch of the Canal Bank & Trust Company. Bank clerks were compelled to fill a bag with a sum later said by officials to be $7,500, while the gunmen urged them to "work faster" under penalty of death.

Police Patrolman Louis C. Alberts, standing across the street, suspected something was wrong, started toward the bank. A handiwork shot him down, and his action spurred the other robbers to flight.

Then followed a chase through the streets, with police in motorcycle sidecars and automobiles, and volunteer citizens, exchanging streams of bullets with the fugitives.

Quarrel of Aged Men Brings Hospital, Jail

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(AP)—A 55-year-old man stepped on the foot of a 75-year-old man and that started trouble.

It happened three weeks ago and since then they had exchanged heated words but nothing more. This afternoon the incident blossomed into something else.

As a result Henry Myers, the 93-year-old, went to the hospital, and William Samuel Walker, the 75-year-old, went to jail.

Walker told police he was on the second floor of the rooming house where both men lived when Myers advanced up the stairs toward him brandishing a stick in a threatening manner.

1 KILLED, 1 INJURED IN TRAIN DERAILMENT
HAVANA, Ark., Nov. 23.—(AP)—One man was dead, another injured and a third was missing following the derailment of a Rock Island freight train near here late Saturday.

Munroe Nash, of Athens, Ala., was killed, Frank Rodriguez, of Mason City, Iowa, suffered minor injuries. Nash told investigators before he died that a negro was riding beside him on a coal car at the time of the accident. Search of the wreckage failed to reveal a body tonight.

Ten cars were derailed when the freight struck a damaged switch at Danville, 10 miles east of here, the result of what railroad investigators believe was a dragging brake beam.

U. S. JUDGE DISBARS MISSISSIPPI LAWYER

VICKSBURG, Miss., Nov. 23.—(AP) Judge Edwin Holmes in federal court here Saturday held H. F. Jones denied the accusation after being arrested and brought before the judge. ## Girl Conquers Fear and Breathes All Night Without Aid of Machine

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—(UP)—A machine's conquest of death and a beautiful girl's even more dramatic victory over fear assured her tonight of complete recovery from one of medicine's deadliest maladies.

Almost three months ago Frances McGann, brunette, blue-eyed, gay student nurse, was stricken with paralysis of the lungs. A few months earlier it would have meant her almost instant death.

But in St. Luke's hospital there was installed one of the recently developed automatic Drinker respirators, a breathing machine. Physicians placed the nurse, lifeless to all intents and purposes, into the apparatus, and turned on the motors.

The motors operated powerful pumps which alternately produced a vacuum and then heavy air pressure within the vibrating cabinet. The suddenly varying pressures caused Frances' lungs to expand and contract without aid of her paralyzed muscles.

Her lungs gradually regained their strength until she finally could breathe without aid.

Physicians removed her from the machine only last week for lengthy periods of time. Then came the new crisis, one of fear.

Frances sat all day in her sunny room, apparently well. She chatted merrily, received visitors, read, busied herself even with rouge and a mirror until midnight and bed-time.

And then she almost collapsed when physicians suggested that she sleep for the first time outside the respirator.

"I am afraid," she sobbed, "afraid that I might not wake alive. Please, please let me sleep in there." She nodded toward the long, gray cabinet.

That night, she slept in the cabinet. The physicians decided she was suffering from "a psychosis of fear."

So consulting psychologists explained kindly that she never would recover, if she did not regain confidence in her own muscles. They promised

LABOR GREATEST NEED—SIMPSON

ST. PAUL, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Labor, not farm relief, is the greatest need of the country in the belief of John A. Simpson, Bethany, Okla., newly-elected president of the National Farmers' Union which closed its convention here Friday.

"The country doesn't need farm relief," he said before departing for his home today, "it needs labor. There is only one way to get farm relief and that is to get a job for every man in the country. When people are working they will buy flour and cotton and automobiles. More relief to the farmer is going to put him further in the hole."

Mr. Simpson advocated a plan whereby the federal government would print $3,000,000,000 in non-interest currency to be loaned to the states or spent by the government on improvement projects all over the country to relieve unemployment.

Easy way to relieve Colds

BREATHING VAPEX is the modern way of relieving colds. Merely put a drop of this delightful inhalant on your handkerchief during the day and at each end of your pillow at night.

Then breathe the soothing vapor. In a few breaths, your head clears, your nose opens up, and you are relieved of the distress of a cold.

VAPEX is very inexpensive. The $1 bottle contains fifty applications—an average of only six cents. Millions of bottles are sold yearly. It is approved by Good Housekeeping because it is safe for every one—even little children.

For safety's sake, always ask for V.A.P.E.X.—the original inhalant—and do not accept an inferior product that claims to be "just as good."

Little girls---

darling little playmate like TICKLETOES
and she's . . .

Given for Securing 2 New Subscriptions to the Daily and Sunday Constitution

There isn't a single little girl in Atlanta or 'round about who need worry whether or not Santa Claus is going to come to her house this year, for this offer made by The Atlanta Constitution affords an opportunity to have Tickletoes and her lovely bed (a gift to be adored and cherished by any little girl) without a penny's cost.

If you could buy Tickletoes at the store she alone would cost from $10 to $12 because she's a big "life-like" baby doll beautifully dressed in organdy with trimmings of lace and ribbons. And she cries when you squeeze her dimpled knees, too. She rolls her eyes, and her little arms, legs and cute little fingers and toes are of moulded rubber that feel and look exactly real. And when her tiny hands and legs get dirty, you can wash them with soap and water just like you do your own.

It will take you scarcely no time at all to earn her, and after you get the required subscriptions you'll say that they were worth a hundred times more effort than it took to get them.

NEW RULES FOR SUBSCRIPTIONS

Each subscriber, whether for doll or doll bed, must be new. A new subscriber is someone who is not now, and has not been, a subscriber, directly or indirectly, to the daily and Sunday Constitution within 30 days prior to November 10, 1930. Do not waste time sending in the names of people who are already taking The Atlanta Constitution.

Stopping The Atlanta Constitution in a house for one family, or individual, and starting The Constitution right back for another family, or an individual, will not count. The switching of names or changing the address from the business address to the home address, or vice versa, will not count. Orders signed by minors will not be accepted. Orders signed by single men will not be accepted unless they are permanent residents of Atlanta and hold responsible positions. The Constitution reserves the right to finally accept or reject any subscription secured by any contestant.

Each order must be for a period of six months, and cannot and will not be cancelled during the life of the contract after once accepted. Orders received for less time than six months will not be accepted.

This offer is not open to employees of The Atlanta Constitution and immediate members of their families, to carriers or agents, or members of their families.

You can have Tickletoes without the bed or the bed without Tickletoes. Four new Subscriptions wins them both. Two new subscriptions win either of them.

Tickletoes now has a bed all her own—and it's a perfectly wonderful bed, too. It is made by a nationally famous manufacturer who makes regular beds for big folks and they know how, too. This bed is just her size and made like a regular grown-up's bed of strong metal tubing, daintily enameled in a beautiful shade of baby blue. It has real springs and the cute tufted mattress is the kind you find on a real baby's bed in the nursery—and fitted so that you can make it up just like mother

MRS. GOODRUM HONORS DEBUTANTE AT BUFFET SUPPER

Handsome New Home Scene Of Party for Miss Goddard

Mrs. James J. Goodrum was hostess last evening at a buffet supper at her home on Peach Ferry road, assembling members of fashionable young Atlanta society to meet Miss Mary Goddard, lovely debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John N. Goddard, and one of the most admired of the season's buds. The event was the first to be given since the hostess took possession of her handsome new home, and with its wealth of floral adornments it presented a charming scene for last evening's party. Mrs. Goodrum and Miss Goddard received the guests in the living room and they were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Goddard, parents of the honor guest; Miss Elkin Goddard, Mrs. Alonzo Norris, sister of the hostess, and her niece, Miss Mildred Goodrum, who is a student at Wesleyan college in Macon and was her guest for the week-end.

A large white Venetian urn, placed on a table in the living room, was filled with yellow, white and pink chrysanthemums, and smaller tables held vases of long-stemmed pink roses and blue larkspur, the pastel shades blending with the hangings of the room. At the foot of the stairway was a handsome wine urn, filled with pink and yellow chrysanthemums, and in the sunroom Pernet roses were employed in the decorations.

The table in the dining room where supper was served, was covered with a cloth of Venetian lace and centered with a silver epergne filled with Talisman roses and yellow pom-pom chrysanthemums. At either end of the table were silver candleholders holding tall green tapers which burned unshaded.

Floral Decorations.

Punch was served in the hallway from tables garlanded with smilax, the garlands caught with sweet peas, valley lilies and roses in graceful shower effect.

Mrs. Goodrum received her guests wearing a gown of black lace, offset by a spray of fresh-tinted orchids worn on her shoulder.

Miss Goddard was beautifully groomed in black velvet, fashioned with a deep bertha of real lace. Her flowers were orchids.

Mrs. Goddard wore for the occasion a dinner gown of black lace posed over a slip of chiffon.

Miss Elkin Goddard's costume was of pale green chiffon combined with Alencon lace.

Mrs. Norris wore black velvet with rhinestone trimmings.

Miss Mildred Goodrum's gown was

Oscar Gieberich Exhibits In Babcock Art Galleries

Oscar Gieberich, well-known portrait and landscape painter, who has been a recent interesting visitor in Atlanta, is included in a quartet of noted artists who are exhibiting their canvases in the Babcock Art Galleries in New York. The exhibition opened Monday, November 17, and will close Saturday, November 29. The other artists included in the showing are Harold English, Norman Mason and Clinton O'Callahan.

Mr. Gieberich's contribution consists of five paintings, including two still life studies and three landscape scenes, one of which is of particular interest to Atlantans. It is entitled "Garden Gate," and it presents the picturesque entrance to the Chateau de la Ronce, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Powers, in Paris, France. Mr. and Mrs. Powers formerly lived in Atlanta. Mrs. Powers having been before her marriage Miss Alice Steel, and they are often the guests of relatives here during their visits to America. The gate in the picture leads to the "basse court," or the lower court, in the beautiful gardens surrounding the Chateau de la Ronce.

Another canvas, "A Fishing Village," presents a scene in Concarneau, a fishing hamlet on the Brittany coast. The house in the picture is a clubhouse, where fishermen were wont to gather at the close of the day's work and swap stories of the sea. Shortly after Mr. Gieberich painted the scene, a disastrous storm almost wrecked the village, demolishing the clubhouse and the surrounding buildings.

The third landscape in the exhibition presents a bit of the charming countryside in Provence and is entitled "Southern France." Provence is the home of Mistrail, the celebrated French poet, and this section of France has become familiar not only by its portrayal on canvas, but by its introduction into song and story. Mr. and Mrs. Gieberich have recently visited in Atlanta as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Cohen. Mrs. Gieberich was before her marriage Miss Mable Drake, of this city, and with her husband is always accorded a warm welcome by their host of friends. They are now in New York and will sail early in December for their home in Paris, France.

Mr. Gieberich is an outstanding member of the Paris artists' colony, and his work attracts attention and admiration wherever it is exhibited. He has given most of his time lately to the painting of landscapes, having put on canvas numerous scenes throughout France where he and Mrs. Gieberich have visited. He has also done many portraits in this country and in Europe.

In any case, you'll gratefully appreciate the bounteous supply of Hot Water which the new Hotpoint Heater now easily affords.

Because of its cleanliness, its convenience, its safety, Electricity always has been the most satisfactory method for water heating. Clean because it eliminates fuel tanks and bins, dirt, smoke, ashes, and smudge common to the older types of fuel. Convenient because there are no fires to tend. Safe because an electric water heater requires no vents or flues.

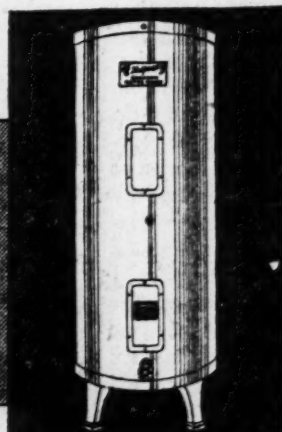

With these and other manifold advantages, Electricity now has been made comparable in cost with any other fuel used for water heating. ## BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

JERRY MUSKRAT IS DISTURBED.
BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.
Suspicious mice are always right.
With those who daily fight for life.
—Old Mother Nature.

All the smaller people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows and some of the larger ones for that matter, fight for life every day. I do not mean by this that they fight with teeth and claws every day. Goodness, no! I mean that in order to live they have to be everlastingly on the watch for enemies, that they have to be constantly hunting for food, and that they never can afford to be forgetful, careless or too confident. Otherwise they are not likely to live long. Is it any wonder that they are naturally suspicious?

Jerry and Mrs. Muskrat had had a very pleasant and comfortable summer. They had been busy, very busy. You see, they had reared no fewer than three large families of children, since last spring. Most of these children, excepting the last ones, had gone out by way of the Laughing Brook and the Big River to live their own way in the great world. The youngest children were still living around in the Smiling Pool or along the Laughing Brook. Two or three of them might spend the winter with their parents in the big comfortable house Jerry and Mrs. Jerry had built in the Smiling Pool. Now that the children no longer needed care, Jerry and Mrs. Jerry were preparing for winter, but at the same time getting a well-earned rest.

"My dear," said Jerry one day as he and Mrs. Jerry were looking over the roof of their house to see if it needed strengthening, "have you noticed that lately one of those two-legged creatures has been around here quite often?"

"Do you mean Farmer Brown's boy?" asked Mrs. Jerry.

"No, I don't care how often Farmer Brown's boy comes around. This is a stranger, and I don't like it. No, sir, I don't like it."

"Now you speak of the matter, I have noticed this stranger," replied Mrs. Jerry, "but I haven't paid much attention to him. What harm can he do?"

"That is what I want to know," replied Jerry. "Perhaps he doesn't mean any harm at all. However, I have noticed that he never visits the Smiling Pool or the Laughing Brook when Farmer Brown's boy is about, and I don't like the looks of that."

"Are you afraid of him?" asked Mrs. Jerry with a sly look, for she likes to tease Jerry.

"No, I'm not afraid of him! Certainly not," retorted Jerry. "I mean I am not afraid of him for myself. I'm thinking of the children. They have a lot to learn yet, and they have had no experience with these two-legged creatures as you and I have. I wish this one would stay away from here. I believe I see him now down the Laughing Brook."

Mrs. Jerry looked in that direction and sure enough there was a boy, the stranger she had seen before. He appeared to be very busy searching for something along the bank of the Laughing Brook. He examined every log that lay partly in the water and every log piece along the bank, Jerry Muskrat grew more disturbed as he watched.

"Do you mean Farmer Brown's boy?" asked Mrs. Jerry.

"He hasn't a terrible gun," said Mrs. Jerry.

"If he had you and I wouldn't be sitting here," replied Jerry dryly.

"Well, as long as he doesn't bring a gun, I don't see why we should worry," declared Mrs. Jerry.

"What about traps?" asked Jerry.

"Traps?" exclaimed Mrs. Jerry in a startled tone. "Traps? What under the sun put traps into your head?"

"As long as they are in my head and along the Laughing Brook or around the Smiling Pool it is all right," grinned Jerry. Then his face grew sober again. "Perhaps there is nothing to worry about, but just the same I wish that fellow would stay away from here," he added.

TRUNK BOMB SOURCE SOUGHT IN FAR WEST

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 23.—(P)—Search for the author of the second attempt in three years to bomb the Cowles Publishing Company building here had Washington and Oregon today.

Information from San Francisco, Portland and Seattle indicated a trunk sent here, containing an elaborate timing apparatus, hooked to a 200-stick dynamite bomb, might have been shipped from those cities. The bomb, inside a steamer trunk, was delivered to the Associated Press office, which is centrally located in the Chronicle building.

Ballistics experts said the bomb was powerful enough to wreck both the Chronicle and Spokesman-Review buildings had it been discharged.

Vandy, South Carolina Climb, Duke Is Halted as Leaders Rest JACKETS, BULLDOGS PREPARE FOR BATTLES

By Ed Danforth

It was with a start that the operator of these lines of type awoke early yesterday morning, sat bolt upright on his couch and clutched at a brilliant idea.

All calculations on the Alabama-Georgia tussle in Birmingham Thanksgiving Day have been made on the assumption that Alabama will be at top form, mentally and physically.

Deep thinkers have been squinting at the crystal to see whether Georgia would be right or wrong. That seems to be the only question that has bothered any one in experting on the big game.

Is it not possible that Alabama, after galloping briskly through the mildly protesting ranks of Howard, Mississippi, Sewanee, Tennessee, Vanderbilt, Kentucky, Florida and L. S. U., will be just a little jaded, bored, out-of-tune or over-confident?

Isn't the Wade machine subject to fits of depression, laziness, carelessness, undue self-esteem and the misadventures of the game the same as Georgia?

DON'T CARRY IT TOO FAR.

That looked like a brilliant idea for a while anyhow. I do not think it will stand close analysis, when one considers that Coach Wade, through an unusually good supply of reserve material, has been forced to use his regulars relatively few minutes this year. In fact the L. S. U. game was won by the second and third stringers.

Do not go into that prospect too far, but bear it in mind. If Georgia looks sluggish in practice do not give up all hope.

Perhaps Alabama will be attacked by buck ague if Alabama ever realizes that the whole roll is staked on that turn of the cards. If somebody tells them that it is now or never—and if Georgia begins clicking and cutting into the Alabama line with the ferocity they showed in earlier games—the Red Menace may go on a little excursion into the realm of ordinary football. In which case Georgia may win a championship for Tulane.

THE HEIGHT OF EXCLUSIVENESS.

Beaten by Army, Michigan, Dartmouth, Holy Cross and tied by William and Mary, Harvard went out and beat Yale handsily. Does Harvard stoop to conquer none but Yale? That suspicion hangs like a pall over her other opponents.

SOONER OR LATER.

Duke kept winning and winning, but finally came to that day when they were off form. Wake Forest was right and tied them.

Fordham won and kept winning until a day when they sagged a bit and St. Mary's overtook them.

Western Maryland kept winning and winning but the sour day overtook them and Albright nipped their winning streak.

Georgia traveled at top speed until they caught Florida when Florida was hot. Georgia picked up speed long enough to defeat N. Y. U., but went to pieces again and lost to Tulane.

No team can hope to remain at the peak of winning form indefinitely. In all those cases enumerated above the team whose winning streak was broken happened to be up against a strong opponent the day they elected to sag.

It always has been that way in football. One of Alabama's best teams—the 1926 eleven—that won the Conference championship and tied Stanford in the Rose Bowl, had one bad day. That was against Sewanee. The Crimson Tide could not get to first base against the weakest team in the Conference and barely won, 2 to 0. Against any other opponent Alabama would have been defeated playing that same game.

The best of them have their off days and if the schedule has no soft spots, no winning streak can be maintained.

WHAT OF IT?

Wayward Boye scrambled through Saturday with his usual quota of misinformation on the football situation and contemplates the end of the season with no little joy. He lost nine out of 32 Saturday, which brought his season average to 369-106—776. His Conference record is 109-27—801. As if anybody cared.

Ryder Cup Committee Names Five for Team

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Walter Hagen, of Detroit; Leo Diegel, of Agua Caliente, Cal.; Johnny Farrell and Gene Sarazen, of New York; and Horton Smith, of Joplin, Mo., have been chosen as members of the Ryder cup team of American golf professionals who will play the British next year, while 14 other stars will play 72 holes to qualify for the three remaining places.

George Sargent, veteran pro at the Skotlo Country Club here, scene of the international matches next June, made the announcement at the authority of A. R. Gates, head of the Professional Golfers' Association.

Golfers who will attempt to qualify for the last three places on the eighteen team will be Al Espinosa, of Chicago; Ed Hilderford and Al Watson, of Detroit; Ed Dudley, of Philadelphia; John Golden, Billy Burke, Joe Turnesa, Bill Klein and Whitey Cox, of New York; Otto Dutra, of San Francisco; Henry Gulick, of Bridgeport, Conn.; Craig Wood, of Newark, N. J.; Frank Walsh, of Wisconsin; and Denny Shute, of Columbus.

The selections were made by the directors of the P. G. A., at their Chicago meeting last week. Hagen will act as captain as he led the successful invasion of England in 1928. He and the four others named were considered the only pros sufficiently outstanding to be chosen outright. The other 14 must attempt to qualify on the Monday and Tuesday preceding the Ryder cup matches which are to be held June 26 and 27.

In former years the eight teams members and two alternates have been picked at one time by a committee of professionals. The new plan gives an advantage to Shute, the pro at Brookside Golf Club here, who is thoroughly familiar with the layout and plays it particularly well.

GRID LEADERS REST ON OARS, RIVALS BATTLE

Commodores, Gamecocks Boost Ratings; Deacons Halt Duke's Streak.

By Dillon Graham,

Associated Press Sports Writer. While Alabama and Tulane, co-leaders in the Southern conference, rested in preparation for Thanksgiving battles, Vanderbilt and South Carolina improved their standings and Wake Forest ended Duke's seven-game winning streak with a 13-13 tie.

Only seven of the 23 conference teams were scheduled yesterday as the majority waited until the Thursday holiday for their closing engagements.

The Demon Deacons from Wake Forest spotted the Blue Devils a first-minute touchdown and then came on to score twice and lead Duke until late in the final quarter. Both Wake Forest touchdowns came in quick succession in the third period, after the Deacons had held the Devils twice within the 5-yard zone just prior to the intermission.

Vanderbilt earned two touchdowns and scored two others after recovering Auburn's fumbles to win, 27-0. The Plainsmen drove to within scoring distance twice. Vanderbilt scored one in the second and third periods and rushed over two touchdowns in the last quarter.

BAD CLOSERS.

North Carolina staked its season with a 19-0 lacing from South Carolina, while Sewanee also dropped its last encounter to Southwestern of Memphis, 6-20. One of Carolina's scores came after a punt had been blocked over the goal line. Sewanee scored early in the opening period, but Southwestern counted one in each quarter with Newton scoring three touchdowns.

Lou Kinn's 65-yard dash for touchdowns on the second play gave Navy a 4-0 win over Maryland, although the Old Liners twice advanced to the five-yard line where desperate passes were knocked down. Dixie's inter-sectional average took a drop as both Centre and Randolph-Macon were also defeated. Centre was much for the Kanawha and West Virginia game played on the post parade ground Sunday afternoon, by a score of 5 goals to 3.

With each side now holding one victory, the title will go to the outfit first chalking up two more on the credit side of the ledger. The Guardsmen showed vast improvement over their work in the opening game, covering the ball rapidly during the Atlanta team and making good a higher percentage of their shots for goal.

CHRISTIAN STARS.

Christian was for the day, perhaps, the outstanding player on the field, though he was closely pressed for honors by Lieutenant Moran, of his own team, and by Major Franke, leader of the Fort guard.

Christian has always been noted as a shining light on offense, but Sunday his work on defense was equally brilliant. Time about time when the soldiers were forcing the play desperately in the effort to count. The Guards forward would make use of his famous backhand stroke to save the situation.

Captain Wing scored early in the opening period at close range, the first of the Fort's held good until the third chucker.

The play swept so rapidly from one end of the field to another at times that it was difficult to follow, and then would come other intervals of comparative inaction.

MORAN SCORES.

Moran took charge of the situation in the third frame, scoring first on a long shot from a difficult angle early in the play, and then counting again from a close up just as the period ended. On both occasions the ball hit one of the goal posts and was deflected through. The Guardsmen were forced to make a fourth frame, Christian and Love snatching the willow between the uprights.

The Army came back to press the pace, and after a fierce mix-up in front of the Guards' goal, Wing got the ball through. This was in the fourth frame, and soon after the final period got under way Franke brought his mates almost on even terms with a long shot that took the Guards by surprise when it rolled across the line.

Accepting the gauge, Christian responded with the most spectacular play of the afternoon, carrying the ball himself straight down the center of the field at a dizzy pace, and sending it squarely through the posts from some 80 yards away.

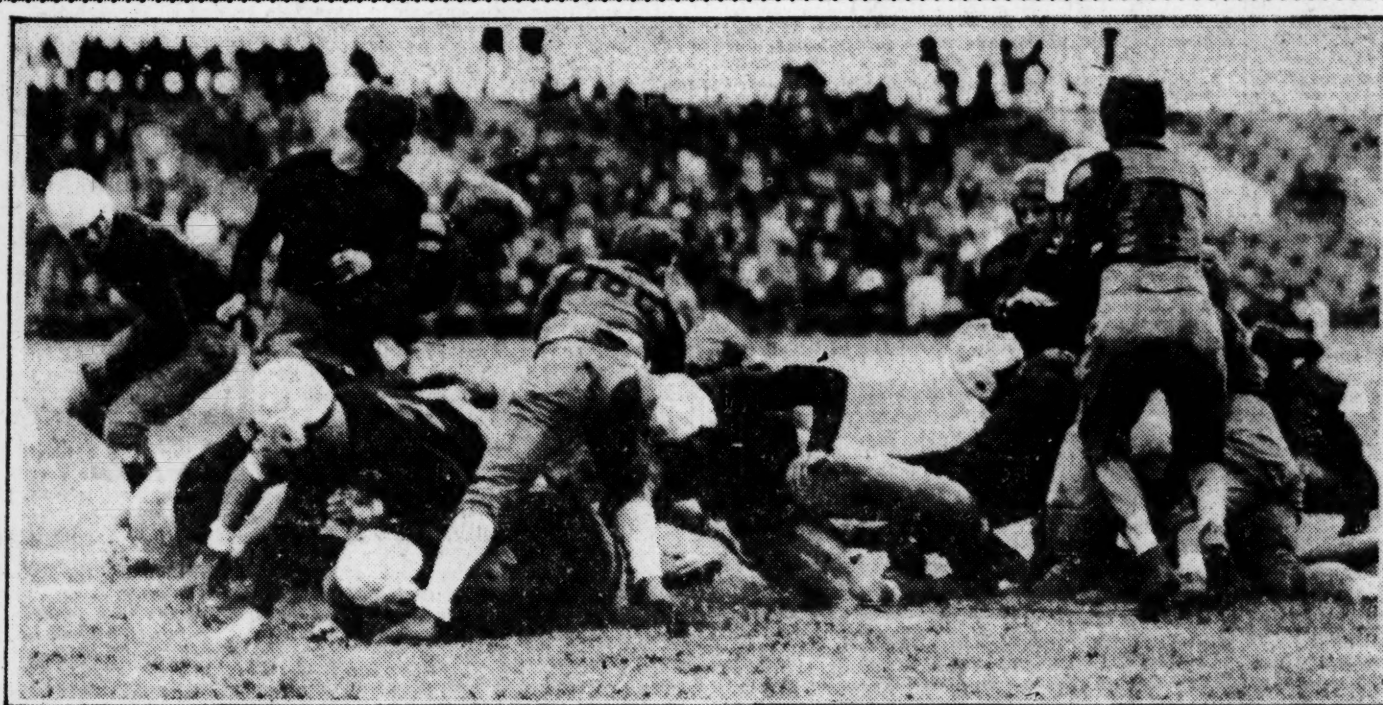

Between the halves a "mule polo" match was put on for the amusement of spectators. It produced plenty of that, the score ending at 1 to 0 in favor of the Service Company over their rivals of Company H.

Johnnie Robbins, Alderwood, Portland, took low honors in the amateur class with his own 300 for the 72 holes. Dr. O. F. Willing, Waverly, Portland, Oregon, took second with 300. Others of the first ten finishers include: Clarence Clark, Tulsa, 289; Al Espinosa, Chicago, 292; Craig Wood, New Jersey, 292; Horton Smith, New York, 293; Neil Christian, Portland, 296; Al Espinosa, of Northwestern, cracked under the strain of watching his team battle the Notre Dame yesterday and last night was sent to bed by his physician with orders to remain there for three or four days.

Hanley had fought off tonsillitis and laryngitis all last week so that he might direct his eleven against Notre Dame.

mittie of professionals. The new plan gives an advantage to Shute, the pro at Brookside Golf Club here, who is thoroughly familiar with the layout and plays it particularly well.

As One Valiant Petrel Threat Failed at Macon

Beneath the mass of players shown above is George Gilliard, Oglethorpe's powerful young fullback. Near him, although not in his arms, is the ball. Gilliard, two plays previously in the game with Mercer at Macon Saturday afternoon, had ripped off a 43-yard run which ended on Mercer's five-yard line. Anderson had picked up four yards and Gilliard, trying for the touchdown, had slipped off tackle only to fumble. That play is the one pictured. Cimperman, Bear fullback, recovered and the Petrels had been halted again. Mercer won, 2 to 0.

FORT POLOISTS BOW TO GUARDS

Christian Leads Mates to 5-3 Victory Over Infantry Team.

By Walter Wilkes

Evening the city championship polo series with the Fort McPherson representatives, the Governor's Horse Guards were returned victorious in a brilliant game played on the post parade ground Sunday afternoon, by a score of 5 goals to 3.

With each side now holding one victory, the title will go to the outfit first chalking up two more on the credit side of the ledger. The Guardsmen showed vast improvement over their work in the opening game, covering the ball rapidly during the Atlanta team and making good a higher percentage of their shots for goal.

Final Scrimmage Set For Engineers Today

Coach Alexander Will Eye Ball-Carriers Carefully in Experimental Work.

By Ralph McGill.

Georgia Tech's final scrimmage before the Florida game Thursday will be held this afternoon at the Flats. The afternoon will find Mr. Will Alexander peering intently at his various backfield combinations. Knocking around in quite a few of our best skulls is the idea that the old Yellow Jackets are about to rise up and smite somebody. It might as well be Florida.

The Georgia regular Friday night show will be headed by a 10-rounder between Bud Taylor, Terre Haute puncher, and Fidel LaBarba, former lightweight champion and recent conqueror of Kid Chocolate. LaBarba should be installed a favorite but may not be in view of the number of overwhelming favorites who have been beaten here recently—Chocolate, Al Singer and Jimmy McLarin, to mention a few.

At the Chicago coliseum Friday night, Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, takes on another heavyweight, K. O. Christner, of Akron, Ohio, in the 10-rounder. Monday night's show at the Philadelphia arena brings together two Quaker City stars, Benny Bass and Lew Massey, in the main go.

DIXIE COACHES TARHEEL GUESTS

Large Attendance Expected at 6th Meeting of Southern Mentors.

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Nov. 23.—The Southern Football Coaches' Association will hold its sixth annual meeting at the University of North Carolina on Thursday, December 11, with hotel headquarters in Durham.

This meeting will come the day before the annual meeting of the South, to which the association will also be host.

Invitations have been mailed football coaches all over the south and a large attendance is expected, according to announcement today from Robert A. Fetter, director of athletics at North Carolina, who with Chuck Collins, head football coach, and Dr. Foy Robertson, of the athletic council, make up the local committee on arrangements.

The association was formed in 1925 to promote good will and sportsmanship among southern football coaches, and has received unstinted praise from coaches in widely scattered localities, who say there is better feeling and spirit among the southern coaches than in any other section.

One of the outstanding achievements of the association was the part it took in the formation in 1926 of the Southern Officials' Association, which is now functioning so efficiently under the direction of Secretary A. H. Hutcheson, and which has contributed so much to the improvement of officiating in the south.

This forward step was taken by the Southern conference as the direct result of recommendations from a joint committee of officials and members of the coaches' association, the members being Shagnessy, of Tulane; Rafferty, of V. M. I.; Boveck, of South Carolina, and Tebbell, of N. C. State.

Officers this year are W. C. Rafferty, V. M. I., president; Walter Johnson, Presbyterian College, vice president, and John Ford, Citadel, secretary.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Jack Grossman, of Rutgers, and Jim Murphy, of Fordham, alone of the east's leading half-down scorers got into action Saturday, and only Murphy scored a touchdown. It enabled him to take sole possession of sixth place, breaking a tie with Foster, of Bowdoin.

GARDEN MATCH TOPS RING CARD

LaBarba, Taylor Clash in Best of Week's Bout.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Once more Madison Square Garden steps in to offer what looks like the best match on the current week's fight schedule. The Garden's regular Friday night show will be headed by a 10-rounder between Bud Taylor, Terre Haute puncher, and Fidel LaBarba, former lightweight champion and recent conqueror of Kid Chocolate. LaBarba should be installed a favorite but may not be in view of the number of overwhelming favorites who have been beaten here recently—Chocolate, Al Singer and Jimmy McLarin, to mention a few.

At the Chicago coliseum Friday night, Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, takes on another heavyweight, K. O. Christner, of Akron, Ohio, in the 10-rounder. Monday night's show at the Philadelphia arena brings together two Quaker City stars, Benny Bass and Lew Massey, in the main go.

Giants Beat Packers, Take Pro Grid Lead

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—(AP)—The New York Giants took the leadership in the National football league today defeating the Green Bay Packers, 13 to 6, before a crowd of 45,000 at the Polo Grounds. Each team has lost 2 games but the Giants have won two more.

Chris Cagle, former Army star, made his professional debut. He failed to get away for any long runs. Injured in the first period, he came back midway in the third session.

The Giants counted in the second period. Badgro took the ball over on a long pass from Benny Friedman. Morgan got away for an 84-yard dash early in the third period, carrying the ball to the 1-yard line from where Friedman plunged over.

Chris Cagle, former Army star, made his professional debut. He failed to get away for any long runs. Injured in the first period, he came back midway in the third session.

Thomasville Man Makes Record Kill

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Nov. 23.—Scottie Beverly, of Thomasville, star golfer of the local Glen Arven Country Club, and winner of golf trophies on many a links in Georgia and Florida, has now gone out for a new variety of record, and probably established a lasting one.

Friday he killed a deer down in the Lake Iamonia region, 20 miles south of here, that the oldest citizens admit is the largest specimen that has ever been seen in this section. The big buck weighed 370 pounds, which is about 170 pounds more than the average large buck usually tips on the scales. He had seven-point antlers, and was a beautiful and majestic animal.

Never Leads Cards To Win Over Tigers

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Ernie Nevers and the Chicago Cardinals defeated the Memphis Tigers, a non-league eleven, 20 to 7, today in a professional football game.

As usual, Nevers was the works for the Cards. The former Stanford ace plunged and passed into position for the first two touchdowns and scored the last one himself, along with kicking a pair of points after.

Cobb Rooney made the first Card score. Nevers passed to Boyd for the second, and plunged for the last one. Tony Holm and Moore hammered their way to the Card 1-yard line with two minutes to play and Benis sneaked over for the Tiger touchdown.

Football Results. Providence 10..... Minneapolis 0. San Francisco 10..... Depaul 0. Chicago Cardinals 20..... Memphis Tigers 7. Giants 13..... Green Bay 6. Stapleton 6..... Brooklyn 6. Ironton Tacks 26..... Chicago Bears 13.

'BIG MOMENT' OF GRID SLATE DUE THURSDAY

Major Prizes at Stake as Georgia Faces Alabama.

By Ed Danforth.

Out of a football campaign that has been a succession of anti-climaxes has come one big moment. The Georgia-Alabama game in Birmingham Thanksgiving Day has appeared just before closing time as the big melodramatic situation. That game, it now appears, will produce the greatest crowd that ever saw a football game in the south, and will make Southern conference history.

Alabama's great red football team entered the arena quietly in September, designed as a dark horse. They rushed downstage early in November when they severely belated the best team Kentucky has had in her history, and threw off the sable trapings.

Successive victories over Tennessee, Vanderbilt and Kentucky threw those "favorites" out of the race and definitely established the Crimson Tide as a great team, if not the best in the section.

Georgia swept into national prominence in October by beating Yale conclusively. The Bulldogs came on with a rush, were halted momentarily when Florida earned a scoreless tie, but leaped to the peak again by beating New York University. That served to coagulate interest in this Thanksgiving Day game and the resultant automatic game has kept attention centered there.

THESE RUMORS.

Rumors of an invitation to play in the Rose Bowl that would be extended to Alabama, added more red flares to the illumination. Georgia's unexpected defeat by Tulane hurt Georgia's prestige, but it also created the chance for the Bulldogs to come back to their October form and threaten a big upset.

And as the day draws near Georgia is being given an outside chance to outscore Alabama. A team that has beaten two big eastern opponents and all second-stringers have one cannot be dismissed lightly. For instance, if those Georgia passes begin working the Crimson Tide will be sorely pressed to outscore the Bulldogs. There are days when the Athens folks can throw passes like nobody's business.

And let it be repeated here for those who came in late—any football team possessed of a sterling punter like Spurgeon Chandler and two great ends like Charles and Great Smith can make it mighty hard on the enemy. Alabama is quite likely to have to drag that football three times the length of the field to get two touchdowns.

TITULAR ANGLE.

The championship angle is this: If Alabama wins, the Crimson Tide will be acclaimed in all quarters (save in the cautions of Tulane) as the Southern conference champion. If Georgia wins or ties, they will have won an unduped championship for Tulane.

The Rose Bowl angle is, of course, ing to latest advice: If Alabama wins or ties they will get the invitation to play in the Tournament of Roses, and if Georgia wins there is a possibility that the invitation could go to the conquerors of Yale and New York University.

Those factors then and the assurance that the game will be a contest between an outfit of great power and another of great resourcefulness is responsible for the big rush to Birmingham.

GOOD ATTACKS.

Alabama can host the ball along the ground like any other team in the conference, while Georgia at her best has a versatile attack directed by a first-class field general.

Special trains on the Southern and Seaboard will carry hundreds, while as many more will motor over. And from the gulch-lined roads in the south to the pine-clad hills in the north the yipping, yelling sons of Alabama will pour into Birmingham on every accommodation train that is running and in a manner of motor conveyance.

Georgia has beaten Alabama twice in the past three years, but now the Alabama people foresee nothing but an old-fashioned Alabama victory.

SCRIMMAGES SET. The Bulldogs will close their hard work on the Sanford field gridiron Monday and Tuesday afternoons. Both are to be vigorous drills, with Alabama plays as the main lesson. Mehre hopes to rid his squad of its sluggish attitude in the practices.

Departure is slated for Wednesday morning. The special train Pullman will be dropped at Anderson Wednesday, and the Bulldogs will take light workout that afternoon. The train taking Bulldog supporters to the battle-field will pick the team up Wednesday morning for the short hop to Slagtown.

Meanwhile word from Tusculosa indicates that the Tide men have had the game of the United States Army. Wade plans to bring his squad up to the game peak by means of stiff signal drills on the three remaining days. He has already sent them through numerous scrimmages, and believes that more would be an overdo.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Mexico defeated the Eighth Corps Area polo team of the United States Army, 3 to 2, today to win the series here with two straight victories.

'Big Three' of Young Atlanta Elevens Prepare for Hard Games

PREP GRID CLUBS LOOK TO CROWNS IN COMING TILTS

City, State Honors Dependent on Outcome of Thursday Game.

By Roy White.

While a majority of the football schedules of the year will be ended with the Thanksgiving games Thursday afternoon, Atlanta's numerous prep teams will be steaming towards the finishing wire with much of their business incomplete.

Tech High, Boys' High and G. M. A., the "big three" in Class A, of the prep loop, are mathematically still in the running for play-off honors in the northern division of the G. I. A. A. Much depends upon their games Thursday as to the final selections in northern division. The southern division is about settled with Savannah and G. M. C. holding a strangle hold. Savannah has the edge with a good record.

Tech High plays Lanier High in Macon, Boys' High journeys to Montgomery, Ala., to play Sidney Lanier Thursday morning at Spiller field, and Madison Aggies on the Madison gridiron Wednesday afternoon. That G. M. A.-Madison game should tell the tale for one of the contenders and should furnish plenty of action.

Other Thanksgiving games include Marietta and R. E. Lee, of Thomaston, Thursday morning, at Spiller field, and University School and Rome, on the Rome gridiron, that afternoon.

Commercial and Decatur High reached agreements during the latter part of last week to play at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night, at Decatur, for the Class B prep title.

Decatur has seven victories and two tie games on its 1930 record, while Commercial has four victories, two ties and one defeat. Commercial's only defeat was suffered Friday afternoon in Carrollton by a much heavier and stronger Carrollton Aggie eleven.

The score was 24 to 0. Both Decatur and Commercial ended their schedule last week-end and both are undefeated in local prep ranks. They both have two tie games on their cards, but no defeats, and are deadlocked for the Class B prep lead.

They played to a 7-to-0 score in a night game in Decatur some time ago.

A check of the records of the teams in the northern division of the G. I. A. A. reveal that Madison Aggies seem to have the inside track for one of the places in the playoff. Coach Butts' team has an unusually good record, and even a loss Thursday to G. M. A. will not materially weaken their claim.

Tech High, G. M. A., Boys' High and Riverside are still very much in the running. The Southsiders will present a stronger claim should they win Thursday from Lanier in Macon, while Boys' High's chances depend mainly on the outcome of Thursday's game. Should Tech High and G. M. A. both lose the Purples' record will fall far outclass those of their rivals.

Riverside still has Monroe in their way on Thanksgiving, and must win to go on.

As the situation now stands, there will be a merry scramble for the two places in the northern division, and it is not at all unlikely that three or four teams will have to be selected and the winners meet after elimination games.

Savannah, G. M. C. and Benedictine, a new member, have played the best football in the southern division, although Benedictine will have played only two or three. Lanier High had a great team but lost a close game to Savannah and was tied by Boys' High.

"A population of 500,000 by 1932" is Atlanta's slogan. Let's all pull together for a Greater Atlanta.

The Constitution's Weekly Business Review

EDITED BY M. D. GLEASON

There is hardly a need or a want that cannot be filled in Atlanta's stores and factories.

NEW BUILDINGS AID CLEANING BUSINESS

National Window Cleaning Company, 18 1-2 Ivy street, N. E., reports that the erection of new buildings in Atlanta has been good for the firm. This company has been cleaning every kind of building from the humble cottage to the most pretentious mansion

Georgia for over 20 years. It was never better able or equipped to do cleaning of anything that has a hard surface than at the present. The company has an organization of expert men that make cleaning their study, and they have the right cleaning fluid for an ancient, beaten marble or granite tombstone, or the most delicate paper in palatial homes. For any kind of cleaning job, the outside inspector and estimator looks over the work in prospect and then sends the right men and equipment on the job. This same outside inspector who has had a dozen or more years' experience in this line, passes on all work with a more rigid and critical inspection than a home owner will think is necessary, and the people having any kind of house or office cleaning done by the National Window Cleaning Company never need to worry about it being done right. The cleaning of homes has always been a very important branch of work with this company, and many people call them when preparing for some special occasion in their home. Thanksgiving is always an unusually busy time as many families prepare for a home-coming and want everything to look spic and span. This company cleans inside and out many houses every year for the real estate people and property owners who want some old house cleaned up so it will look more attractive for sales purposes. The dollars spent in this way makes the old house look more attractive and has been the means on many occasions of profitable sales.

SHOE REBUILDERS IMPROVE METHODS

The shoe rebuilders of this country and especially of the Atlanta territory are taking more pride in their calling now than ever before, according to S. J. Bethune, manager of Sutton's Shoe Repairing Shop, 11 Edgewood avenue.

"We claim to have some of the best shoe rebuilders in this country," said Mr. Bethune, "and we pay high salaries. In equipment we are up-to-date with a Penn-Standard sole cementing process machine. With this shoe sole is cemented on the shoe like you would vulcanize a patch on an automobile tire tube. This is a new, improved way of repairing a shoe and requires no nails, no wire nor stitches. You cannot detect that a shoe has been repaired except by noticing new leather. Another great advantage is that your shoes we re-sole this way retain the same comfortable shape your feet broke them into, and there is no stiffness nor uncomfortable tightened shoes to hurt your feet for a few weeks.

"We wish to emphasize the fact," further stated Mr. Bethune, "that shoes sent to us from any part of this country by parcel post will receive the same good workmanship as those that are brought into our shop by the owners. You do not have to come in person to tell us how particular you may want your shoes repaired. A small child or your servant can bring your shoes one day and get them the next just as good as the most particular person.

"Visitors in Atlanta may bring along that extra pair of shoes that need repairing and leave them with us for a few minutes or until they get ready for them. They will also get the same good service as if they watched us working on them; as good materials, good workmanship aided by the best of equipment and backed up with a third of a century of experience. The drying of shoes all colors is another department in which we specialize," concluded Mr. Bethune, "and we do this kind of work in a way that the shabby looking shoes brought to us one day go back the next day greatly improved. Very often we dry shoes over several times to suit special occasions."

IMPORTANT ROADS NEAR COMPLETION

Two important links in the Georgia highway system are being rushed to completion, and thousands of Georgians are interested in when these roads will be ready for traffic. On each of these highways, state road No. 8 and No. 13, there are three large, complete paving outfits. The unpaved portion of state highway No. 8 connecting Athens with Atlanta is being constructed by the Wesco Company, of Chattanooga, Tenn., the Davis Construction Company, of Atlanta, Ga., and the Noonan Construction Company, of Pensacola, Fla. Each of these contractors has a large, complete paving organization working with the most modern equipment.

On route 13, which connects Atlanta with Asheville, N. C., and other northern points, the Carolina Contracting Company, Columbia, S. C., the Davis Construction Company, of Atlanta, Ga., and C. R. Hopper, Griffin, Ga., have modernized organizations and are pushing their organizations to the limit to complete these projects at the earliest possible moment.

Yancey Brothers, Inc., 634 Whitehall street, S. W., furnished most of the equipment which these contractors are using. When one of these contractors finds a place where more modern or a bigger machine will help speed up the work, he promptly orders a machine to the job, such as the Davis Construction Company did recently in replacing an old paver on their Gainesville job with a new Rex paver.

This new machine has a capacity of more than a mile of 20-foot concrete road a week. Other machines recently shipped to these different construction units by Yancey Brothers to speed up this work include Caterpillar tractors, Rex high-pressure road pumps, Blaw-Knox steel bins and weighing batchers, Ord finishing machines, and many other modern pieces of equipment.

C. R. Hopper, Griffin, Ga., who has a contract for four miles on route 13, between Gainesville and Lula, on the Lula end, is using a central mixing plant and hauling the ready-mixed concrete from the plant out on the road. This plant consists of steel bins and weighing batchers of the Blaw-Knox type.

O. B. Duncan, of Yancey Brothers, assisted Mr. Hopper in the design and selection of equipment for his plant, which is one of the most modern of its type in the country.

A small amount as this, for you are the one that will receive the full benefit every day you live in that house.

"Take the present season of the year," continued Mr. Maddox, "many people will be doing some extra cleaning for the Christmas holidays, but no matter how much they may scrub, brush and dust a room, all the hard work they do would look small in comparison with having the walls covered with the latest shades and patterns in wall papers.

"Common sense will tell any one that no article or amount of work put in a room will make such a pleasing showing for the little money that a beautiful wall paper now costs; for a nicely patterned room looks half finished at first glance.

"Mr. Burnett, our president, began hanging wall paper here in Atlanta way back in 1881, and we continue to carry on with his advice and experience, offering to the people of this section of the country a wonderful stock of the best designs, and we have the latest shades that will blend with the furniture of any room in the house.

"As it is between seasons for our own purchasers, we will give a liberal discount on all work done by us, to keep our men busy."

BIRD-POTTS ADDS NEW DEPARTMENTS

In response to a demand for a first-class forge, general blacksmithing and spring shop, the Bird-Potts Company, Inc., has added these departments.

The company specializes in steel-plate bar work and machinery parts. They also make welded roof trusses and have already welded together several additions to fabricated steel frame buildings.

By welding with approved methods and competent workmen, the occupants of the building did not know any new steel was being fabricated. This is the modern way. The Bird-Potts Company, Inc., have two well equipped shops in Atlanta. They are well equipped to form and finish plates, sheets, angles, shapes, bars, etc., from the raw material to the finished products. They are fabricators and boiler-makers.

They manufacture cottonseed steel cookers of the latest type. They handle forgings, springs, general blacksmithing, also a general jobbing welding shop, being able to weld from the smallest part of anything practical to weld.
